2005 ORIOLES Information & Record Book
SPORTS LEGENDS AT CAMDEN YARDS turns a stadium full of memories into a tour of the record-making history, championship teams, and stellar athletes behind the stories. Take a ride into Maryland’s sports past to explore how these stories played out on the national stage from Johnny U. to Cal Jr., from the Greatest Game Ever Played to the Oriole Way, from duckpin bowling to horse racing. With dynamic exhibits, interactive displays, and thousands of artifacts, Sports Legends brings our shared history, this common heritage, and these thrilling heroes to life — again and again — in an innovative attraction for the whole family.

JOHN P. ANGELO—EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Now in his 12th season with the Orioles, John Angelo is responsible for the day-to-day business operations of the club. In January 1995, he was named to the position of Executive Vice President. In his current capacity, John oversees the Corporate Sales and Sponsorship, Financial Operations, Sales and Ticket Services, Concessions, Ballpark Operations, Communications and Public Relations departments of the ballclub.

John joined the Orioles organization in January 1994 as Special Assistant to the Chairman. John oversaw the reorganization of the Sales, Ticketing, Ballpark Operations and Customer Service departments of the company to provide more personal service to fans when they call, write or visit Camden Yards.

After graduating from the Gilman School in Baltimore, Maryland, John received a B.A. in Philosophy and Political Science from Duke University and a law degree (J.D.) from the University of Baltimore.

John resides in downtown Baltimore.

ROBERT AMES—VICE PRESIDENT AND CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER

Bob Ames is in his 12th year with the Orioles. He joined the Orioles in April 1989 after an eight-year stint with Warner Inc. in Baltimore. He was promoted to vice president in January 1991.

With the Orioles, Bob is responsible for general administration, accounting, financial information systems, human resources, insurance and special projects. He also serves as a trustee for the Major League Baseball Minor League Health and Welfare Plan.

Prior to joining the Orioles, Ames served as Treasurer of Warner Inc. while with Warner he managed treasury, documents receivable, credit and collections and the cash management departments.

A native Baltimorean, Ames received Bachelor of Science degrees in Microbiology and Journalism/Public Relations (magna cum laude) from the University of Maryland in 1980. In 1987, he earned his Masters Degree in Finance from the University of Baltimore. Bob is a Certified Public Accountant and is a member of the Maryland Association of CPAs and the American Institute of CPAs.

Bob resides in Churchville, MD, with his wife Linda, their three daughters Emily, Lynsey and Kaila, and their son, Benjamin. He is active in his church, Grace Assembly of God, and currently serves on the church board. In his free time, Bob’s passions include gardening and motorcycle riding with his son, Ben.

LOU KOUOURIS—VICE PRESIDENT/SPECIAL ASSISTANT TO THE CHAIRMAN

Lou Kououris joined the Orioles in February 1994. Now in his 12th season with the team, he was promoted to Vice President prior to the 1996 season. Lou has worked for Pitott Associates since 1981 in the real estate and hospitality industry.

After attending the Boys Latin School, Lou received a Bachelor’s degree in Sociology from C.W. Post College in Greenvale, NY, where he played football and lacrosse. After graduation, he reached both of those sports on the high school and college levels. In addition, Lou coached youth lacrosse in Baltimore for more than 10 years.

Kououris is very active in the community, serving as chairman of the Boys & Girls Clubs of the Baltimore Area and sitting on the Board of Directors for Camp Puffin, a camp for underprivileged children located in Mountaion, MD. He also served as chairman of the Advisory Board for the Baltimore Area Command of the Salvation Army. In November 1998, Lou was instrumental in coordinating the 1998 Baltimore Colts Anniversary banquet. Proceeds from the event benefited the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine ALS (Lou Gehrig’s Disease) research. He continues to assist the American Cancer Society, the Maryland Food Bank and numerous local nonprofit organizations and schools in their fund raising efforts.

A Baltimore native, Lou currently resides in Emporium, MD with his wife Patt. Kououris has two children. Louis III, a West Point graduate and Army officer who currently lives in Baltimore and owns his own business, and Alexandra, a graduate of the University of Georgia and the University of Baltimore School of Law, who is a clerk for a district court judge in Baltimore County.

JIM BEATTIE—EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT, BASEBALL OPERATIONS

Jim Beattie has combined the on-field experience he gained in nine years as a big league pitcher with an Ivy League background, an MBA degree and 12 previous years in major league front offices to bring knowledge, experience and an undaunted manner to his position as the Orioles’ Executive Vice President for Baseball Operations.

Jim was named on December 4, 2002 to team with Mike Flanagan in overseeing all aspects of the Orioles’ major league, scouting and player development areas. Beattie brings experience in each area to the Orioles front office.

Beattie, 50, served as vice president and general manager of the Montreal Expos for six seasons, from 1995 through 2001. In that role, he supervised the team’s baseball operations, including the major league, player development and scouting departments. Prior to joining the Expos, he served as director of player development with the Seattle Mariners for six years beginning in 1989, where he was in charge of the minor league system and played a role in shaping league player acquisitions, contracts and scouting.

Beattie was drafted and signed with the New York Yankees in 1975 and went on to pitch nine seasons in the majors with the Yankees (1979-83) and Mariners (1985-94). In 293 games, he compiled a 52-87 record with a 4.17 ERA. As a rookie in 1978, he posted the Kansas City Royals in the American League Championship Series and pitched a complete game victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers in the World Series. He also yielded Carl Yastrzemski’s 3,000th career hit in 1979. Beattie ranks among Baseball’s all-time leaders in wins (199, 43), innings pitched (1,944.2), complete games (39, 30), shutouts (13, 6), strikeouts (9th, 863) and starts (8th, 147).

As a player, he served on the MLB Players’ Association Executive Board from 1983 through 1986.

A graduate of Dartmouth College, Beattie earned a Master’s in Business Administration from the University of Washington in 1984 before joining the Mariners in the front office. Among the players drafted and developed in the Mariners farm system during his tenure there were Alex Rodriguez, Shawn Estes, Jason Verrilli and Delmar Lowe.

Beattie was named the Expos general manager on October 27, 1995, and over the next six seasons guided an organization that had the lowest revenues and payroll in major league baseball. Under Beattie, the Expos developed and brought to the majors such players as Vladimir Guerrero, Joses Vidro, Javier Vazquez and Michael Barrett. He held the second longest tenure among Montreal’s 10 general managers, after original GM Jim Fanning. Beattie resigned following the 2001 season but returned to the Expos in 2002 as a special assistant to GM Jim O’Mara, serving primarily in a scouting capacity.

Beattie was born in Hampton, VA, but grew up in South Portland, ME graduating from South Portland High School. He and his wife, Martha, have three teenaged children, son Jake and daughters Allison and Sarah. They live in the Roland Park section of Baltimore.
MIKE FLANAGAN—VICE PRESIDENT, BASEBALL OPERATIONS

After playing a quarter-century in the Baltimore Orioles as a player, coach, instructor and broadcaster, Mike Flanagan took on a new role two years ago when he was named Vice President of Baseball Operations for the organization. Professionals in the game have long been impressed with his insight and skills as an evaluator of talent and of people, and his move into the front office was as smooth as his pitching delivery.

The Orioles Hall of Famer becomes the first former Cy Young Award winner ever to assume a general manager-level position in baseball when he was named to his post on December 4, 2002. He has been involved with the Orioles for more of the last 13 years since he retired as a player in 1987. In addition to his coaching and broadcasting roles, he also served in an advisory capacity to Orioles Chairman and CEO Peter Angelos after stepping down as pitching coach for the second time in 1998.

“Flanny” compiled a 167-143 record and a 3.60 ERA in 18 major league seasons with the Orioles and Blue Jays, including a 141-116 mark over 10 seasons with the Orioles. He was the American League Cy Young Awardist in 1978 when he went 23-6 with a 3.03 ERA. He was a member of two American League championship teams with the Orioles, in 1979 and 1983, as well as 1983 World Championship teams.

Flanagan was drafted and signed by former Orioles scout John Siskoe in 1972 and made his major league debut in 1975. In 1978, he led the league with 23 wins and 5 shutouts and was the AL Cy Young Award winner as the Orioles won the AL East crown and advanced to the World Series before losing to the Pittsburgh Pirates. In 1983, when the Orioles won their last World Championship, Flanagan went 12-4 during the regular season despite missing nearly three months with ligament damage in his left arm. From 1977 through 1983, he made more starts (227) than any other pitcher in the American League and was third in wins (109) over that time.

In 1987, he was traded to Toronto and pitched for the Blue Jays for 3 1/2 years, helping them win the American League East in 1989. At the end of his career, he returned to the Orioles in 1997, first as a reliever and made 43 appearances out of the bullpen. On October 6, 1997, in the last game played at Memorial Stadium, Flanagan entered in relief with one out in the 9th inning and allowed the eventual walk-off home run to Jim Thome.

Flanagan was elected to the Orioles Hall of Fame in 1994, his first year of eligibility. He ranks 3rd in club history in games pitched (456), innings pitched (2,717.2) and saves (326). 4th in strikeouts (1,297) and complete games (89), 5th in walks (1,449) and 7th in shutouts (47).

Mike served as Orioles pitching coach in 1988, then spent two years as an analyst on Orioles television broadcasts. He returned to the field in 1998 as pitching coach before returning again to the broadcast booth, where he spent the past four seasons. In addition to the broadcasting duties, he served as an instructor during the Orioles winter workouts at Camden Yards and during spring training in Fort Lauderdale, FL.

Flanagan, a native of Manchester, N.H., is a third-generation pro baseball player. Both his grandfather and father, Ed Sr. and Ed Jr., played in the Boston Red Sox organization. Mike attended the University of Massachusetts, where he played baseball and freshman basketball. While at UMass, he hooded Julius Erving and Rick Pitino in a freak-variety basketball game.

Mike and his wife, Aris, reside in Sparks, MD. He has three daughters, Kerry, Kathryn and Kendel.

EDWARD P. KENNEY—DIRECTOR, BASEBALL ADMINISTRATION

Ed Kenniey is in his 25th season in the Orioles front office. In February 2002, he was named Director of Baseball Administration, assisting in the day-to-day business of the baseball operations department.

Kenniey, 49, joined the Orioles in October 2000 as Special Assistant to the Vice President for Baseball Operations after 17 years working in the front office of the Boston Red Sox, where he followed in the footsteps of his father and grandfather.

Following his graduation from Boston College in 1978, Ed spent five years working in the Red Sox minor league system, beginning in October 1978 as business manager for AA Bristol in the Eastern League. In 1982, he was named general manager at Bristol and continued in that capacity when the franchise moved to New Britain in 1993.

In November 1993, he joined the Boston Red Sox as administrative assistant for minor league operations. Four years later, he was named director of minor league operations and continued overseeing the Red Sox farm system until August 1999, when he was named Assistant General Manager.

Ed’s father, Edward F. Kenniey, retired as Vice President for Player Development in 1992 after 46 years with the Red Sox. Ed’s grandfathers, Tom Kenniey, also worked for the Red Sox for many years, beginning in the late 1930s.

Ed and his wife, Debbie, have four sons, Patrick, 16, and Matthew, 14. They live in Elkton, Cty, Md.

DAVID STOCKSTILL—DIRECTOR, MINOR LEAGUE OPERATIONS

David Stockstill, a member of the Orioles’ minor league staff for the past 11 years, was named the MLB’s Director of Minor League Operations on November 3, 2004.

Stockstill, 47, served as a minor league hitting instructor, manager, field coordinator and hitting coordinator for the Orioles’ minor league department since 1994 before being elevated to the top farm system post. For the last two years, he held the dual role as the organization’s Minor League Field and Hitting Coordinator, overseeing on-field instruction throughout the Orioles farm system.

Stockstill played professionally for 16 years after signing with the Chicago Cubs as a free agent in 1978. He played eight seasons between the Cubs, Rangers, Giants and Expos farm systems, including three seasons at AAA Oklahoma City, before moving to the Mexican League in 1986. He hit .350 with 37 home runs and a league-leading 101 RBIs with Class A Geneva in 1979, capturing Midwest League MVP honors. He finished his career by playing eight seasons in Mexico, including the last 1 ½ seasons as a player-manager for Union Laguna, and finished with a .342 career batting average, third on the Mexican League’s all-time list.

In 1994, he joined the Orioles’ organization as a minor league hitting instructor, a position he held through 2001. The next year, he was named Minor League Field Coordinator before taking over as manager at AA Bowie for the second half of the 2002 season and leading the BaySox to a 26-29 record.

A native of Springfield, MO, Stockstill received in Crina, MO. He played on all-state baseball and basketball player at Hardin (MO) H.S. He is a graduate of John Brown University in Arkansas, where he was a two-time NAIA All-America and played for former major league Hall of Famer and former O’s minor league hitting coordinator Walt Moon.
JOE JORDAN—DIRECTOR OF SCOUTING

Joe Jordan was named Director of Scouting on November 16, 2004, joining the Orioles after eight seasons with the Montreal Expos and Florida Marlins.

Jordan, 43, spent the last two years as National Crosschecker for the Marlins. He began his scouting career in 1997 as an area scout for the Expos before being named Midwest Supervisor in 2001. He moved into the same capacity with Florida when most of Montreal’s front office staff moved to the Florida organization in 2002, and was named National Crosschecker a year later.

Jordan was drafted as a catcher in the 1985 round of the 1985 draft by San Francisco. He batted .213 in 35 games for Everett, the Giants Class-A affiliate in the short-season Northwest League in 1985, but was injured the following spring and was released at the end of spring training. He returned to his alma mater, the University of Oklahoma, received his degree in 1987 and spent three years as an assistant baseball coach for the Sooners, 1988-90.

Jordan spent seven years in the financial investment business before returning to baseball as a scout for the Expos in 1997.

Jordan and his wife of 20 years, Kim, live in Blanchard, OK, with their daughter, Alexandra, 11.

ELYSIAN STREET HOME RUNS

Of the 37 home runs hit off the former Elysian Street Brickyard (now Camden Yards) through 1992, 36 of those were hit by Orioles, including two by Riders players and one by a Reds lifer.

Baltimore Orioles, Inc.

OURIWS IN THE COMMUNITY:
BEYOND THE YARD

The Orioles recognize the value of support from the community and believe it is important for the organization to give back by being involved in local programs and initiatives. In addition to partnering with existing charities and organizations, the Orioles have also created several initiatives of their own under the umbrella ownership group. Below is a brief summary of some of those efforts associated with the past year.

BALTIMORE ORIOLES CHORALE FOUNDATION

The Baltimore Orioles Chorale Foundation and the Baltimore Orioles, Inc. support many civic and charitable organizations with the goal of enriching the lives of fans in the community. Since the ownership group headed by Peter Angelos purchased the team, the Baltimore Orioles Chorale Foundation and the Baltimore Orioles, Inc. have donated $57.5 million to support various organizations in the community.

ORIOLES FOOD DRIVE

A record-setting amount of savourable food and personal items and monetary donations were collected by the Maryland Food Bank during the Orioles 17th annual food drive, held last July at Camden Yards. The Orioles, Orioles Wives, 13,779 employees and Orioles Advocates collected 11,090 pounds of food and $13,300 in cash from their standing-game drives during the three days, more than doubling any previous year's total in both categories. This food was then distributed to six kitchen, food pantry and warden throughout Maryland. Cash donations were used to purchase buses for Thanksgiving.

ORIOLES/AMERICAN RED CROSS BLOOD DRIVES

The Orioles teamed with the University of Maryland Medical Center and the American Red Cross to hold two blood drives at Camden Yards in September in remembrance of the September 11, 2001 tragedy. Participants received a pair of tickets to that weekend’s Orioles-Yorkshire game. A total of 235 units of blood were collected, making it the Orioles’ most successful blood drive ever. Second baseman Brian Roberts prompted the event by appearing in a Public Service Announcement encouraging people to donate blood, visit the blood drive to sign autographs for fans and participating in an on-field ceremony with the American Red Cross.

ESPN ZONE

In December, the Orioles hosted 90 children from Baltimore County
Taylors Elementary School for the annual Children’s Christmas Party held at ESPN Zone in the Inner Harbor, where they were entertained and played games in the restaurant. Sports Anchor, Orioles player
B.J. Surhoff, Larry Biaggi, Walt Willey and John Wukovits autographed christmas party autographs for and are funds with the proceeds. Baltimore Coach John Schindler dressed as Santa Claus delivered gifts from the organization to each student.
The Orioles Summer Reading Program, presented by Bank of America, provided incentives to each of the 1,181 libraries in 23 Maryland counties to sign up to participate in the program. Each club received a package of materials, including posters, stickers, and a game. The program was designed to motivate children to read during the summer months.

DAY AT THE BALMORAL

The Orioles hosted more than 60,000 youth from their Fall Ball Park Day (9/28) and October School Day (10/1) events, and little league teams from Washington, DC, and Virginia.

FLATBREAD SUNDAY

Orioles players made nearly 50 appearances in the region, and the Orioles Bar and Grill held 200 events in the community.

RENEWING BASEBALL IN THE INNER CITY BBQ PROGRAM

The Orioles and Coca-Cola are working together to provide 1,000 children with a hot meal and a baseball bat.

PUBLIC RELATIONS

The Orioles are committed to giving back to their community and helping those in need. They have sponsored programs such as the Orioles Health and Fitness program and the Orioles Youth Baseball program to help promote healthy living and physical activity among children.

DUGOUT CLUB

The Dugout Club is a great way to support the Baltimore Orioles and their commitment to community service. By joining the Dugout Club, you will receive exclusive benefits and be able to attend special events and activities. Whether you're a season ticket holder or just a fan, the Dugout Club offers something for everyone.
SPORTS LEGENDS AT CAMDEN YARDS

In May 2005, the Babe Ruth Museum will open its expansion project, Sports Legends at Camden Yards, in the historic Camden Station building located at the north end of the stadium. Covering 22,000 square feet and showcasing more than 10,000 artifacts, Sports Legends is an interactive, innovative tour of Maryland’s sports heritage. The space will include exhibits on the Orioles, Baltimore Colts and Johnny Unitas, along with an in-depth look at the history of the Negro Leagues in Baltimore. Other exhibits include Maryland college sports, the Baltimore Ravens, and the Maryland Aquatic-Hall of Fame.

Opened in 1904, Camden Station had been unused since the 1980’s prior to its renovations. In its heyday, the station was the grand passenger terminus of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, the country’s first commercial railroad. In 1954, the brand new Baltimore Orioles franchise arrived at Camden Station from a season-opening series in District for their first home game at Memorial Stadium.

Abraham Lincoln passed through the station on several occasions, once on route to his inauguration in 1861, and also on his way to deliver the Gettysburg Address. Lincoln’s funeral car also stopped there on its way to Springfield, Illinois, for his burial. As part of the renovations, the Gentlemen’s Waiting Room will be restored to its Civil War splendor and will interpret Lincoln’s passage through Camden Station, the Civil War, and Camden Station’s role in America’s transportation history.

Lee Mazzilli

MANAGER

Full Name: Lee Louis Mazzilli
Born: March 25, 1955
Opening Day Age: 20
Height: 6' 1"
Weight: 185
Hair: R
Eyes: R
Birthplace/Residence: Born in Brooklyn, NY.; Resides in Greenwich, CT.
Contract Status: Signed through 2005, with two one-year options.
M.L. Service: Entered his 23rd season in professional baseball. His 20th in the majors. Played 14 years in the majors and spent 6 seasons as a coach before taking over as manager of the Orioles last season.

LAST SEASON
In his first season as a manager in the majors, Mazzilli guided the Orioles to a 78-84 record, a 7-game improvement over 2003 and their best record since 1999. The Orioles went 41-39 after the All-Star break, the 6th best record in the American League for the 2nd half. Despite playing 30 games against teams that made the playoffs, their 2-13 mark over the final 5 weeks of the season was tied with Atlanta for the 4th-best mark in the majors behind Houston, Boston and Philadelphia. Was one of only five Major League managers who did not get fired during a game in 2004.

MANAGING/COACHING CAREER
Mazz was named the 15th manager of the Orioles on November 7, 2003. Before being named as Orioles manager, he spent four seasons, 2000-2003, as first base and outfield coach with the New York Yankees. Was twice a coach for the American League All-Star teams in 2000 and 2001. Managed three seasons in the Yankees farm system. Spent two years at Class A Tampa, going 70-46 in 1997 and 72-69 in 1998. Guided the '98 Tampa Yankees to a first-place finish in the Eastern Division of the Florida State League during the second half of the season. Tampa swept Port Charlotte in the FSL semifinals but were defeated by the Port St. Lucie Mets, 4-2, in the best-of-five series for the championship. In 1989, he managed the AA Norwich Navigators to the title of the Eastern League playoffs. The Navigators went 0-7 to finish 2nd during the 1989 season.

PLAYING CAREER
Spent 14 seasons (1978-91) in the majors with five teams. Played outfield and first base. Finished with a career average of .259, with 93 home runs and 460 RBI. Signed originally with the New York Mets and spent all or part of 10 seasons with them, 1978-88 and 1988-91. Also played for the New York Yankees, Philadelphia and Toronto. Played on three LCS teams and took World Series champion in 1980 with the Mets. Also played for the Mets in 1980s and Blue Jays in 1989 in the LCS. In the late All-Star Game appearances, 1976, he hit a game-tying solo home run off Jim Kern in the 8th inning, then drew a bases-loaded walk off Ken Guidry in the 9th to push the winning run in the National League's 6-4 victory. Went 2-for-4 in his lone World Series, with both hits igniting the Mets rallies, in Game 6 and Game 7. Made his major league debut with the Mets on 9/7/79. Hit a run, pinch-hitter homer in the 2nd inning league plate appearance on 9/9/79. Led the Mets in batting in 1978 and first year because the first Met to hit from both sides of the plate in the same game. Was the last first round draft pick in the 1973 draft other than selected in the first round by the Mets to have a .300 batting average in a season. Hit .259 in his first 100 games. Hit .259 in his first 100 games. Hit .259 in his first 100 games.

PERSONAL/MISCELLANEOUS

Brian is in his 9th season as the Orioles Assistant Athletic Trainer. He was named to his current position on October 30, 1996. This is Brian’s 21st season as part of the Oriole organization’s training staff.

The Eastern Kentucky University graduate began his training career in Batesfie in 1989 at the age of 19, serving as the head trainer for the Orioles minor league farm club during summer breaks from college. He moved up to Class A Erie in 1988 and then served three seasons as trainer of the Orioles’ farm affiliate in Eugene, Oregon before being promoted to the post of minor league medical coordinator, where he served from 1992 through the 1996 season.

Prior to being named to his current position, Brian assisted the Orioles spring training camp for four seasons and was also the trainer for the Scottsdale Scorpions of the Arizona Fall League in 1994 and the St. Petersburg Pelicans of the Southern Professional Baseball Association in 1998 and 1999.

Brian is certified by the National Athletic Trainers Association and is an active member of the American College of Sports Medicine and the Professional Baseball Athletic Trainers. In 1999, he was named to the PBAT’s executive board as an NL Assistant Trainer Representative and still serves on the board. He received scholarships for academic excellence from PBAT in 1995 and Eastern Kentucky University in 1996. In 1999, he was honored (along with head athletic trainer Richie Bancells) by EUBO as a distinguished alumus.

In May 2003, Brian was appointed to Major League Baseball’s Medical Advisory Board.

He holds an MBA degree in medical services management from The Johns Hopkins University. For the past two winters, he has served as an administrative resident in the Department of Medicine at The Johns Hopkins Hospital/Howard Medical Center in addition to his Orioles duties.

The Wiltshire, OH native grew up in Versailles, PA. He and his wife, the former Nancy Simonet, were married on October 26, 1991. The two have four sons, Brady (11/4/93) and Brad (6/15/98), and live in Oceanside, MD. Brian’s hobbies include playing golf and model railroad building.

TIM BISHOP—STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING COACH

Born: November 9, 1964

Tim is in his 13th year with the Orioles and his 15th in the organization. Prior to joining the Orioles in 1988, he was an assistant coach and conditioning coach with Frederick (Class A, Carolina League) in 1981 and the O’s minor league conditioning coordinator in 1992. He also assisted the Orioles in spring training those two years.

Tim graduated from East Stroudsburg (PA) University in 1986 with a B.S. degree in exercise physiology. He earned a masters degree from West Chester (PA) University. He played four years of football and baseball at WCU and after graduating, signed a professional football contract with the St. Louis Cardinals as a wide receiver. He was released by the Cardinals but signed a professional baseball contract with the New York Yankees and played two seasons in their minor league system. In 1987-88, he played outfield at Oneonta, Princeton and P.L. Lauderdaile. While at Prince William, he was a teammate of future major leaguer Allan Melvin, Scott Kamieniecki, Ermilio Williams, Gerald Williams and Kerry Matta. His playing career ended when he was hit by a pitch and broke his arm.

Tim is a member of the National Strength and Conditioning Association (NSCA) and was elected a member of the Maryland Council on Physical Fitness. He is a graduate of the United States Army JROTC 1992 class at the University of Maryland and is a graduate of the United States Courthouse JROTC 1992 class at the University of Maryland.
SAM SNIDER—BULLPEN CATCHER

Born: May 24, 1953

Sam is in his 16th season as the Orioles full-time Bullpen Catcher and his 21st as a professional baseball player. He started in the role as a part-time backup from 1980-86 before becoming the full-time catcher in the part of 1987. The left-handed thrower also serves as a batting practice pitcher.

Sam attended Hagerstown (MD) Junior College for two years, where he was honored as a scholar-athlete, and Saint Leo College in Florida for two years. He played baseball at both schools as an outfielder and pitcher and was recruited by the late Orioles scout John Bowles.

Since 1987, Sam has had his biggest professional thrill as being present at Cal Ripken Jr.'s record-tying 3,141st consecutive game, the All-Star Game at Oriole Park at Camden Yards in 1993 and being part of the 1996 and 1997 Orioles teams that advanced to the ALCS.

For 14 years, until the past off-season, Sam spent his winters serving as a Deputy Sheriff for the Franklin County (PA) Sheriffs Department. The job assists with the Orioles off-season workouts in January each year at Camden Yards. His hobbies include golf and hunting.

Sam and his wife, the former Kimberly Hopkins, were married on December 27, 1987. They have two children, Samantha Mary (2005) and Jeffrey Michael (2003).

RUDY ARIAS—BATTING PRACTICE PITCHER

Born: June 22, 1954

Rudy began his 9th season with the Orioles in 2005. In addition to pitching batting practice, he also throws to the minor league catchers and serves as a warm-up pitcher prior to the morning workouts. He pitched for the Orioles from 1975-86.

A native of Santa Clara, Cuba, Arias grew up in Miami. He graduated from Miami Senior High School in 1973 and attended Miami Dade Community College from 1973-77, where he earned his AA and Honors Minor in All-American honors in baseball. He was drafted by the St. Louis Cardinals in the 1st round (36th overall) in 1977 and spent five years in their farm system. In his first pro season, with the Williamsport Cardinals, he was named catcher on the Northwest League All-Star team. He spent the next two seasons in the Class-A California League, with San Bernardino and San Jose. His career stalled when he was hit by a ball and suffered a broken jaw in 1979.

In 1981, he was assigned to the Braves farm team in the Class-A California League. The Orioles retired his contract to the Class-A California League, where he played in 1982, 1983, and 1984. He later played for the Great Lakes and Mexico, including the AA-Orioles in the 1985 Winter League.

His father, Rudy Arias Sr., pitched professionally for 17 years and died in 1983 for the American League champion Chicago White Sox in 1959.

Rudy and his wife, Helga, were married on December 8, 1982. They have two sons, Luis (2002) and Alex (2003). They have made the Baltimore area their year-round residence for the past five years and live in Elliott City, MD. In the off-season, Rudy provides private baseball lessons to high school players and assists in the Orioles off-season workouts beginning each January at Camden Yards.

JIM TYLER—Orioles CLUBHOUSE MANAGER

Fred played baseball at Bel Air (MD) HS, Harford CC and Towson University. As a senior at Bel Air, he led the team to the national championship in 1973, 1974, 1975, and 1976. He was inducted into the Maryland Baseball Hall of Fame in 1996. He also was named All-Harford County athlete. He is currently the Orioles visiting clubhouse manager.

ERNEST TYLER—SKINNY ATTENDANT

Born: April 19, 1924

Ernie Tyler has had nothing on Ernie Tyler. The Orioles’ legendary skinny attendant and tall man has not missed a home game at Memorial Stadium or Orioles Park since taking his seat on the field next to the backdrop on Opening Day, 1960—a string of 3,661 consecutive regular season games. Overall, he holds the Orioles record for the most consecutive regular season games, 3,661 regular season, 35 post-season and 8 exhibition games, as well as the 1990 All-Star Game.

A graduate of Baltimore’s Mt. St. Joseph High School, where he played in the same football team with former Orioles and Major League Manager Frank Robinson, Ernie began a part-time career at Memorial Stadium during the Orioles East season in 1954. He became a full-time usher in 1955 before moving into his current position in 1959, overseeing the parking lot, before, during and after games. Ernie retired from the Oriole’s Department of Health and Mental Hygiene in March 1979.

In 2008, Ernie was named winner of the Herb Armstrong Award, presented by the Orioles Association of Hall of Fame Committee to non-uniformed personnel who have distinguished themselves in service to the Orioles.

Ernie and his wife, Juliana, have been married 54 years and live in Forest Hill, MD. They have raised 30 children: Thomas, Philip, John, Alex, Christine, John, Chris, and Michelle. Nine Tyler’s, including Ernie, Julianne and sons of the children, have worked for the club at one time or another. Son Jim and Fred serve as the home and visiting clubhouse managers, respectively.

Fred and Debbie Duffy live in Arnold, MD with their son, Sean Duffy Tyler, 17.
PHIL FITZOE—TRAVELING SECRETARY

Born: August 26, 1937

Planes, trains and automobiles—not to mention boxes, hotels and all the other accoutrements of the Oriole's team travel—have been the domain of Phil Fitzoe for the past 37 years—the longest tenure of any traveling secretary in any of the four major sports leagues. In that time, he has booked and traveled in excess of 1.1 million air miles for the Orioles during regular season play and that does not count spring training and post-season play, two post-season trips to Japan, as well as numerous two and three trip.

Phil joined the Orioles in 1954 as assistant to the public relations director. In 1959, he took over the traveling secretary duties from Bob Brown, who became the Orioles' PR director. Cleveland's Mike Gamble has the second longest tenure among current traveling secretaries, having started with the Indians in 1975. In 1950, Fitzoe was honored with the first Donald Davidson Memorial Award, given in honor of the late former Indians and Astros executive to the top traveling secretary in the majors.

A native of York, PA, Phil grew up in nearby New Freedom, PA. He played baseball and football at Susquehannock High School before transferring to York Catholic HS, where he played football. He attended York Junior College for two years before transferring to Millersville (PA) State College, earning three baseball letters while in college. After graduating from Millersville in 1960, he spent three years as a reporter for the York Dispatch before joining the Orioles.

Phil and his wife, Tylisa, live in Towson, MD, with their daughter, MariaLisa (14). Phil also has a son, Josh (30), who played briefly in the San Diego Padres organization.

*Made only 1 start for the Orioles and 3 in the minors asdisablements and injuries cut short his season. Box of his 7 big league starts came at Camden Yards.

*Began the year in the Orioles starting rotation but was optioned to AAA Ottawa on May 15 after giving up 0-1 with a 3.68 ERA. PERSONAL/MISCELLANEOUS

Married, with his wife is Beth. is a 1991 graduate of Exeter HS in Exeter, CA. Was an all-conference basketball and all-county football player. Attended the University of Caligas (CA) College and Pepperdine University. Was the Cardinals’ 24th round pick in the 1994 First-Year Player Draft. Was signed by St. Louis scout Chuck Pisk.
THE ROAD TO 300

- Enters the 2006 season with 2,092 hits, ranked 5th on the all-time list. The 28th player in history to reach the 2,000-hit plateau and become only the 4th player with 3,000 hits and 500 home runs, joining Hank Aaron, Willie Mays and Eddie Murray.
- He is one of 12 players in history and one of two active (along with Barry Bonds) with 450 home runs, 500 doubles, and 2,500 career hits. Among active players, first in hits (2,092), doubles (762), games (2,721) and at bats (10,103); 2nd in runs (1,016); RBI (1,777), total bases (5,323) and extra-base hits (1,161); and 3rd in home runs (551).
- He has hit at least 20 home runs in each of the last 14 seasons, the 3rd-longest streak among active players behind Barry Bonds (15) and Ted Williams for the 550th home run of his campaign ever.
- He is second in 35 different major league parks, has hit in 31 different parks while with Texas and Baltimore, the most ever by an American League player. In the 2014 season, he leads the league in home runs at both Oriole Park at Camden Yards (113) and Ameriquest Field (formerly the Ballpark at Arlington, 130).
- He is the only member of the 500-homer club without a 50-home run game. Has hit 2 home runs in a game 34 times, including 12 times as an Oriole.
- Rawlings and of Seneca Slope, 35 home runs, 7th all-time, became the first franchise ever to score more than 500 home runs each season. Their combined total of 1,140 HRs hitting the season is the most ever by the Yankees. The Yankees, Red Sox, and the Rangers all had 500 home runs or more in the season.
- He is the first player in MLB history to reach the 50th home run with 2,000 hits and 500 doubles, and 1,700 total bases.
- He is the first player in the history of the 500-home run club with 500 home runs or more in their career. The Giants (Bobby Bonds, Willie Mays, Willie McCovey, Milt May) and the Cubs (Jose, Palmeiro, Jimmie Foxx and Ernie Banks) are the only other franchises that have had 4 of the 500-home run club members play for them.

RETURN TO THE NEXT

Returned last season to the Orioles, where he batted .292 (391-2434) and averaged 36 home runs and 111 RBIs in 551 games in 2004 from 1984 through 2006. Led the Orioles in all 5 seasons and in home runs 4 times (tied with Robin Yount in 1987). The Reds have 4 consecutive 100-RBI seasons, tying Murray for the longest streak in team history and matching Cal Ripken for the 2nd most total 160 RBI seasons (12). The Orioles, who led the majors in 2004 with 3 home runs, 10 in 2008, 1 in 2010, and 1 in 2012. The Orioles, who led the majors in 2004 with 3 home runs, 10 in 2008, 1 in 2010, and 1 in 2012.

- Returned to the Orioles after a 5-year absence and had 23 home runs and 81 RBI, breaking a string of 9 consecutive seasons with at least 36 home runs and 100 RBI.
- Played in 194 games, marking the 19th straight year he has played at least 190 games. He and Cal Ripken are tied for the 3rd most consecutive seasons of 160 or more games, behind Pete Rose (26) and Eddie Murray (25).
- Played in 122 of the season’s first 122 games, making 4 starts as a designated hitter. Beginning August 28, played in 32 of the last 37 games of the season, marking 18 starts at DH.
- Hit safely in 16 of his first 34 games, batting .320 with 21 RBI. Batted a combined .227 in May, June and July, including an .165 average in June.
- Average fell to a season-low .242 on July 7. Was batting .247 at the conclusion of the Orioles’ 12-game losing streak on August 27, then hit .303 (33-109) with 5 home runs and 25 RBI over his last 30 games as the Orioles went 21 of their last 34 games.
- Hit a season-high 11-game hitting streak, May 27-June 2, during which he hit .303 (15-49). Had an infield fly hit in 6 straight games, August 25-September 19, going 10-for-23 with 4 doubles and 2 home runs.
- Hit his 250th home run as an Oriole on September 13 at Toronto. Became the 3rd player in MLB history to hit 250 home runs with more than one club. Joining Mark McGwire (Oakland & St. Louis) and Jimmie Foxx (Philadelphia & Boston).
- Hit his pinch-hit, game-winning home run in the 9th inning on September 23 at Boston. Was his 54th career home run, passing Mike Schmidt for 10th place all-time...Ended the season with 551 career home runs.
- Hit at least 36 home runs in each of the last 14 seasons, starting in 1991, tying the 7th-longest streak in MLB history. The Brewers had 20 of their last 34 games.
- Became the first non-Anti-Star Game participant to take part in the All-Star Home Run Derby in Houston. Abandoned the sandblaster and set all participating with 4 home runs in the first round.
- Tied for 2nd in the AL with 167 home runs, including 3 on July 2 at Philadelphia...Rallied 9th in the AL with 80 walks and 3rd in batting average.

Murray Leads the Way

Rafael Palmeiro has taken over the title as the Orioles' all-time leader in career home runs and RBIs, surpassing Frank Robinson and Boog Powell in both categories. He is currently 11 home runs and 11 RBIs shy of Robinson's career totals of 213 home runs and 950 RBIs, and 9 home runs shy of Powell's 212 home runs. He has been a consistent contributor to the Orioles since his debut in 1984.
in. Jesus, in April, 1962. For the first time in 21 years, Jose had remained in Cuba while most of the Palmeiro family came to Miami in 1971, as one of 6 Cuban-born players on the Orioles all-time roster...Has maintained his full-time residence in Texas since 1989...Was honored by appearing on the front of limestone corner blocks, unveiled September 16, 2003 in Texas...Ralph and His wife, the former Lynne Wadler, were married on December 14, 1980, and have 2 children, Patrick Ryan (MD), whose middle name is after former Cub teammate Ryne Sandberg, and Preston Connor (12/2/2005).

THE 95 DRAFT Palmeiro was part of what many scouts consider the best draft ever in June 1985. Among the first round picks that year, in addition to Palmeiro (3rd pick overall by the Cubs), were current teammates (L), Burrow (1st overall), collegiate teammate (W), Craig, (3rd overall), (7th, Pirates), Wally Lewis (15th), (18th, Angels), (19th, Mariners), (21st, Angels), (22nd, White Sox), (24th, Pirates). PRO CAREER

2003: Was the Orioles' top pitcher through the first six months of the season before being traded to the San Francisco Giants in a trade for RHP Kent Mercker, RHP Damien Moore and RHP Ryan Honeycomb on 7/11. Combined to go 17-12 with a 3.76 ERA in 31 starts, between the Orioles and San Francisco Giants. While totals and ERA were both career bests, topping 12 wins in 1999 and a 4.06 ERA at 2002. Tied for 7th in the majors in wins and 14th in the majors in ERA. Worked over 200 innings (207.2), had 4 complete games and worked at least 7.0 innings in 16 starts. Allowed 3 earned runs or fewer in 18 of 31 starts. Had a decision in 26 of his 31 starts. Tossed 168.6 innings. The 3rd time in his career he topped the 200-inning barrier. At the time of his trade, he ranked among American League leaders in wins (12nd, 14th), winning pct. (8th, 7th), innings (8th, 4th), complete games (3rd, 4th) and ERA in early games (9th, 26th). Tossed 16 of his 17 starts for the Orioles, going 13-4 with a 3.76 ERA (242.9 IP, 125.0 S/RE) over that time. His 12 victories in that first 16 weeks, the most by an Orioles pitcher before the All-Star break since jersey Numbers 17 wins in 1997. Won a career-high 5 starts 9/21-4/10. The 5-game winning streak was the 2nd-longest of his career; the best coming when he went 8-straight decisions in July-August 1999, his rookie-year. Had never been more than 4 games over .500 in his major league career but had reached a season-high 8 games over .500 in 14-5 with his blast on New York on 7/24. Previous best came in 1997 at 14-5. On 9/7 at Anaheim, he pitched his first complete game victory since 6/2001. He had 3 complete game losses in 2002. After allowing 5 runs in 2 innings in his first start on 4/24 vs. Boston, he allowed 3 runs or fewer in 12 of his last 20 starts with the Orioles. Allowed 3 runs or fewer in 16 of his 16 starts for the Giants. Earned his first win of the season on 4/11 at Tampa Bay, stretching a personal 5-game losing streak. Lost his 4th losses in 2003 and his first start of 2003. At the end of the trade, was the senior member of the Orioles staff in terms of consecutive service, dating back just 28 years out,... Had 5 Quality Starts for the Giants and pitched shutout ball over his first 7.0 innings in 4 starts. Won 3 straight starts, 8/26-9/21, with a 1.58 ERA (1.236 WHIP). However, he went winless in his last 10 regular season starts, going 0-4 with a 4.65 ERA (24.9IP, 18ER). Left with a 5-4 lead in Game 2 of the National League Division Series vs. Florida, but did not get a decision in the Giants' eventual 9-6 loss.

2004: won only 7 games, but the Orioles went 17-11 in his 27 starts, led by Rodriguez for his best team record in a complete game. -Kicked off the 4th-round run support among American League starters, 3.49 runs per 9IP. Plotted at least 270 innings in 2 of his 2 starts. -Powell Scott for the Orioles became the last in the AL with 32 complete games, but was on the 40-man list of AL 32. COMING BACK

On May 29, 1959, in his 3rd major league season, left-handed Tony Saunders struck the batters out of his swinging arm while throwing:

Saunders reached the majors with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1958 and the Baltimore Orioles in 1959. After the game, he was sent to the minors for 1st time in his career.

Saunders joined Tampa Bay's front office as Asst. to Player Development and Scouting on October 31, 2008. After two years, he left to go into private business. After helping coach the Tampa AAU team during the summer of 2004, and discussing with doctors the condition of his arm, Saunders was convinced to attempt a comeback.

Orlando speed ty Brown, who originally signed Saunders as an undrafted free agent for the Orioles in 2002, contacted him and the Orioles signed him to a minor league contract on January 19, inviting him to spring training.

FRO CARDELL

1899: Fractured his left arm (spiral break of the left humerus, the bone from shoulder to elbow) in his 9th start of the season on 5/28 at Minneapolis Field vs. Texas, ending his season. The injury occurred in the 3rd inning on his 3rd pitch. He had this bone successfully reduced 3 days later by Dr. W.F. Carson and E.M. Peterson. The injury had an up-and-down season. Earned the Devil Rays' first victory of the season on 6/7 at Baltimore in the 3rd game of the season. Allowed one run in 5.0 innings in the Devil Rays' 8-2 win. Came within 4 outs of the 1st no-hitter in Tampa Bay history on 4/23 vs. the Rockies with a 1-0 victory (1.0IP, 1H, 0B, 4K, 1b HR). No 9 walks led a career high (7/4/06 vs. Oakland). Allowed a singles to Mike Bordick, with 2 outs in the 8th, the Orioles' only hit, before summing up the game over Jim Mabry and Roberto Hernández for the combined shutout...Was 3-0 with a 3.72 ERA (25, 29; 2ER) in 4 starts against the Orioles and Angels and 0-3, 16.82 (17, 0 ERP) in his other 2 starts. Missed opener to AAA Durham. Afford his start on 5/6 vs. Detroit. Lost 4-3 on 6 innings (9H, 4ER), matching his busiest outing of the season on 4/17 at Boston. And his shortest start since pitching 1 inning on 8/1077 at Los Angeles while with Florida...Was 2-3 with an 8.07 ERA (27, 25; 2ER) through thatJudging...Made his 1st start for Durham, winning 7.0 innings and did not receive a decision on 5/8. vs. Portland...Was recalled on 5/13 and started 2 days later at Anaheim. Collected a career-high 9Ks on the 1-3-1 Royals roster, getting just 6 base runners to the game...Last time he walked 9Ks was 9/5/98 at Oakland...Went 1-0 with a 2.40 ERA (15, 8H) in his last 3 starts before losing his leg...1996: Passed a 5-10 record despite a 4.12 ERA, largely because he received the lowest run support of all American League pitchers (351 runs/9PL). No other AL pitcher received less than 4 runs support game...His Rays scored 2 runs or less in the starts 15 times...His 4.12 ERA was 16th in the AL and 7th lowest among AL lefties, but had a lower ERA than 20-game winner Rich Hill. 18-games winner, Andy Benes, 17-game winner Tim Wakefield (who led the AL in runs in 1999) vs. 1999 aluminum...Who Patrick, and 1998 winner Charles Nagy...Had fewest than 69 AL pitchers...Had a team-high 20-quality starts...Recorded 8.54 strikeouts per 9 innings, 4th-best ratio among major league lefties behind Chuck Finley, Randy Johnson and John Lester...saw a 2nd start in which he allowed 2 earned runs or less, including 11 of his first 14 starts, when he was 1-4. Only 5 AL pitchers had more starts than 20; the majors with 11 walks was 9 in his AL in 17 walks...Had only one win in his first 19 starts and won only once in his first 12 starts at home...Was 3-0 in his last 2 starts at Tampa Bay Field, including a combined 7.0 shutout over New York and a win vs. Texas...Allowed just 0.7 runs/lb./9 nl./best among AL pitchers...In 5 starts, went 2-0 with a 2.13 ERA (21, 19; 2ER), bested the AL in AL in 8 home runs in 9 in his 3rd start and the Rays scored 2 runs after 11 of those 14 starts...had minor surgery to remove a bone chip from his left elbow 3 days after the season ended...1997: Opened the season with the Marlins' major league roster. Began the season as the 6th starter and made his major league debut on 4/5. vs. Cincinnati (0.6IP, 9H, 3BB, 25K and 8K) and did not get the decision in the Marines 3-1 win but put Florida in 1st place in the NL East in early May. The Marlins were 13-3 in his 1st 2 starts. Average 8.44 strikeouts per 9 innings, tops among all major league rosters as well as Marlins snipers and 7th among NL starters with at least 20 starts...Opponents hit .244, faced with 3 batters. Galloped on Steve Garvey. Facing, was 4th among AL pitchers. In his 2nd start at Los Angeles, he allowed 4 runs in 4.1 innings and 7 hits in 5 innings in his 3rd start at Cleveland. In his 2nd start at Atlanta, he struck out a career-high 10 batters and was leading All-Star pitcher Estrada. 2-1 in the final Russell's 1-0 Abriendo's 3-0 games 3-0-0...First major league win on 5/16. Atlanta, at home to Steve Garvey. 1-0, 8 BB, 5 BB, 1-0, 596 home runs...Scored Kelle of Baltimore as his first major league hit. Nine days later, he belted the Braves against Atlanta. Left his next start on 5/16 at Pittsburgh, after 0 innings with a 2-1 lead after suffering a partial tear of the posterior cruciate ligament as his right knee in a collision with the Pirates' Kevin Young while running out a ground ball...Did not have surgery, but went on the disabled list on 5/17 and was not activated until 7/13. Allowed to play the St. Louis Cardinals in the NL Eastern Division championship series at 1st place in the NL East in 1999. 1-0-2 season record with 3.24 ERA and 1 win over the Pirates. 2-1 in his 1st start and the Rays scored 2 runs after 11 of those 15 starts...had minor surgery to remove a bone chip from his left elbow 3 days after the season ended.

The Newark record of 124 by Johnny Denny in 2001... There were plans to construct a new high school in Rockville, which was scheduled for completion by 2003. The school board approved the construction plan, and construction began in late 2001. The school was completed in August 2003, and it opened to students in the fall of that year. The new school was designed to accommodate 1,500 students and had state-of-the-art facilities. It included a library, a gymnasium, a music room, and a science lab. The school was named John Denny High School in honor of the former player. The school board was pleased with the construction, and the community was excited about the new facility. The school was well-received by the students, who enjoyed the modern facilities and the new learning environment. The school has continued to grow and thrive, and it is now one of the proud institutions of Rockville.

MINOR LEAGUE STAFF ROVING INSTRUCTORS/COORDINATORS

JULIO CESAR VIVES—MINOR LEAGUE HITTING-COORDINATOR

Resides: St. Petersburg, FL

NOTES: Began his 12th season as an assistant hitter for the Orioles organization in 2005. Prior to his arrival, Vives served as the hitting coach at the Orioles' facility in-plant in Boca Raton, Florida. He possesses a strong background in player development and is currently working with the Orioles' minor league hitters to improve their hitting mechanics and plate discipline. Vives is a former minor league player who spent six seasons in the Orioles' farm system, playing in the outfield for the Aberdeen, Maryland, Senators and the Louisville, Kentucky, Redbirds. He was drafted by the Orioles in the 11th round of the 1995 MLB Draft and played in 1997, 1998, and 1999, hitting .266, .245, and .231 respectively. Vives has spent time at every position in the outfield and has been a hitting coach at both the minor league and major league levels. His expertise in hitting mechanics and swing analysis makes him a valuable asset to the Orioles' hitting coordination program.

INSIDE THE PARK HOME RUNS

- On August 12, 1950, Texier Ragan (also former Orioles pitcher) and Port Bleske scored the cycle's two-home run slams off of Warner Reed of the New York Giants. It was the final score of the game and Reed's first big league start in August. It was Reed's first big league win.

- On July 1, 2004, David Justice hit a second home run to win the game. It was the first time in the majors that the Orioles have scored two home runs off of the same pitcher.

- The Orioles' winning streak ended on September 1st, 2004, with a 4-3 loss to the Kansas City Royals at Camden Yards. The Orioles had won the previous four games.

- The Orioles won their ninth straight game on September 1st, 2004, with a 4-3 win over the Kansas City Royals at Camden Yards. The Orioles had won the previous four games.

NOTES ON 20-GAME WINNERS

- Although they make not have been in the past 30 years, only 20-game winners have been designated as Win of the Game since 1972. In 1968, the White Sox designated Bob Forsch as their Win of the Game, and the Orioles' winning streak ended on September 1st, 2004, with a 4-3 loss to the Kansas City Royals at Camden Yards. The Orioles had won the previous four games.

The History of the Orioles

"What do you mean, isn't it? / Elvis Costello, "H tendency to lose an effect in concert? They’re all irrelevant / professional baseball teams that have played in the city of Baltimore, starting back in the 1880s.

1965 season, the team moved into Memorial Stadium, and became the Orioles. The team was originally owned by William A. Wise, a Maryland businessman.

In 1970, the Orioles moved to their current home, Oriole Park at Camden Yards, which is located in the heart of downtown Baltimore. The stadium is known for its unique design, including a rooftop club, a stadium park, and a revolving roof.

The Orioles have won five World Series titles, with their most recent championship coming in 1983. They also have three American League championships and six league titles. The team has become known for its successful pitching, with Hall of Famers such as Sandy Koufax, Rollie Fingers, and Jim Palmer all having played for the Orioles.

Throughout their history, the Orioles have had many standout players, including Mike Mussina, Cal Ripken Jr., and Brooks Robinson. The team has also been known for its colorful uniforms, which have included everything from black and white to purple and gold.

The Orioles are one of the most storied teams in Major League Baseball, and continue to be a staple of American sports culture today. Whether you’re a die-hard fan or just enjoying a baseball game, the Orioles are sure to provide an exciting experience.
MODERN ORIOLES IN BASEBALL HALL OF FAME

In 2003, Eddie Murray became the 116th modern Orioles to be elected to the Hall of Fame in Cooperstown. He is one of two players whose 11-year (or more) careers were spent entirely with the Orioles; the other is Frank Robinson. (See "Orioles Hall of Fame: Biographies and Statistics." )

Jim Palmer generated 80.9% of the total vote (394,644 ballots cast) among the Baseball Writers Association of America members eligible to vote, in his first year of eligibility. In addition to Palmer and Murray, another former Orioles electoral in their first year of eligibility were Brooks and Frank Robinson and Rippling Jackson.

The 11 modern Orioles in the Hall of Fame include four players, a manager and an executive.

Brooks Robinson (71, 85%)
Frank Robinson (91, 95%)
Jim Palmer (76, 95%)}
Lou Gehrig (38, 63%)

OLD ORIOLES IN BASEBALL HALL OF FAME

In addition to the 11 modern Orioles elected, 16 players who played and/or managed for the Orioles during the early days of Baltimore’s club baseball heritage also are enshrined in Cooperstown, including six members of the 1860s/g pavement.

Frank (Hog Heaven) Baker (85)
Fred Clarke (80)
Jim Thorpe (80)
Bob Feller (80)

3 More: There are 3 additional Hall of Famers who have represented the Orioles, though not as players. George Sholz, immediately after his gig as a general manager of the Yankees, served part of his apprenticeship as an international league umpire. Dave Jolly, a legendary character for the 1923, is still in the Orioles’ records, in 1933, and Surfside Grimes, the famed spool pliers who won 70 games in the majors, was a scout for the Orioles from 1930 to 1967.

NOTABLE ORIOLES ARTIFACTS IN COOPERSTOWN

Among the Orioles items on display in the Hall of Fame’s Museum area, the following are among the more popular among fans: the jersey worn by Eddie Murray at his home runs at Games 5 and 7 of the 1983 World Series; a Frank Robinson jersey (given to him by Brooks Robinson in the late 1960s); the jersey and ball worn by Brooks; club promotional items pinned by Henry William (Sep. 2, 1930) and Jim Palmer (Aug. 12, 1944).
HERB ARMSTRONG AWARD WINNER

In 1995, the Orioles Alumni established the Herb Armstrong Award to honor the retired or active ballplayers who have represented the Orioles for at least five years and made a significant contribution to the team, the community and the sport of baseball. The award is named after Herb Armstrong, the Orioles legendary unsung hero and "Yelling Man." Armstrong may not have scored a game-winning hit or played key defensive plays, but he was a lifeblood for the team when he was a radio announcer for more than 40 years.

BROOKS ROBINSON—5

In 1963, Robinson spent 26 seasons with the Orioles and started 20 consecutive opening day games. He won the AL Most Valuable Player Award in 1964 and shared the record (with former pitcher Jim Kaat) for most Gold Gloves with 15. His selection to base-ball’s Hall of Fame in his first year of eligibility in 1969 also cemented his performance against the Cincinnati Reds in the 1970 World Series, which he was named MVP and shared the American League’s Bat and Ball trophy with his third baseman, Frank Robinson. In 1970, he became the Baltimore Orioles’ first Hall of Fame inductee and the 15th player inducted overall.

BROOKS ROBINSON—20

Frank Robinson achieved during his 21 seasons as a player with four among the top players of all-time in 15 categories: He led the AL in home runs, on-base percentage, slugging percentage, and batting average.

Brock holds the record for most home runs in a single season (60 in 1961), which he shared with Roger Maris. He was also a seven-time All-Star, four-time Gold Glove winner, three-time Silver Slugger, and four-time League MVP. His 2,847 career home runs rank him third all-time, behind Mickey Mantle and Barry Bonds. Robinson's career batting average of .297 is also impressive, as is his 1,846 career doubles, which ranks him third all-time.

CAL RIPKEN JR.—8

Baseball's all-time iron man, Cal Ripken spent his entire 21-year career with the Orioles and retired as one of only seven players in history with both 2,000 RBI and 3,000 hits. Along with Kerry Aardsma, Mike Mussina, Eddie Murray, Stan Musial, Bob Welsh, Carl Yastrzemski, in 2001, his final season, he entered in his 2,000th All-Star Game, breaking Pete Rose's record for most times on an All-Star. — a recent pronouncement held by Orioles' President. He earned two All-Star Game MVP Awards (1997 and 2000), an MVP (1983) and 13 Gold Gloves. He is one of the most cogs in his offense, and his all-around play has earned him the respect of his teammates. He was named Major League Baseball's Most Valuable Oriole four times, twice sharing the award with Eddie Murray.

Ripken will be most remembered for tying the all-time unreachable record for consecutive games played set by Lou Gehrig, playing 2,130 games on August 6, 1995. Cal went on to play in 2,241 consecutive games, finally sitting on September 25, 1998.

Following the 1998 season, he was named one of six inductees into the National Baseball Hall of Fame, as well as the 1998 Most Valuable Oriole, the first of many other honors.

Cal and his wife, Kelly, live in Rockville, MD, with their children. They are active in youth baseball projects and are co-owner of the Aberdeen IronBirds, an Orioles minor league affiliate, in addition to raising funds for the Cal Ripken Jr. Foundation to benefit youth programs.

Chuck Thompson
1921-2005

He was the voice of Summer. Across five decades of Baltimore Orioles broadcasts, those familiar tones arrived in bedrooms and backyards. In addition, he was strongly connected to local teams. The athlete came and went with the parks, as athletics do, but Chuck Thompson held things together. He brought the ballparks of summer, and those things, into a community.

Thompson’s voice had a voice that resonated so closely that the sound from you walk down the street in Hampden or one of Pocono that night in July. You’ll never miss it creeping out of early morning.

John Eisenberg, The Sun

He was, simply, the voice of Baltimore, and it was a voice that resonated so closely that the sound from you walk down the street in Hampden or one of Pocono that night in July. You’ll never miss it creeping out of early morning.

Comcast SportsNet (DC), the Orioles Television Network, ESPN and Fox Sports will combine to broadcast 154 regular season and 5 during playoffs games during the 2005 season.

The Orioles Television Network was established in 2004 as a separate entity company to produce, sell and market games to television stations throughout the region, from southern Pennsylvania to North Carolina, from West Virginia to Delaware and Maryland and Washington, DC. HDE (Channel 12) and WCAO (Channel 54) will be one of the network's flagship stations. In addition, the network is available in Baltimore, six of MidAtlantic stations in Maryland, southern Pennsylvania, Virginia, and North Carolina, who will air Orioles Television Network games this season.

Comcast SportsNet will produce 87 regular season and 5 spring training games this year. Comcast has televised Orioles games on cable since 1994, originally under the Home Team Sports (HTS) logo. Comcast SportsNet serves 4.6 million households through its cable systems and affiliate networks in the Central Region, which includes all of Maryland, Virginia, Delaware and Washington, DC, and part of West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

In addition to game broadcasts, Comcast SportsNet will produce a weekly, half-hour sports program Orioles baseball featuring highlights and interviews.

Bruce Martinez and Jim Palmer return to do the action for both the Orioles Television Network and Comcast SportsNet, while Jim Hunter and Fred Marksteiner will continue their long tradition of work between radio and television broadcasts this season, with each doing play-by-play work on approximately half of the team's televised games.

Radio

Announcers: Joe Angel, Jim Hunter and Fred Marksteiner.

WJZ (1050 AM) will be the flagship station for the Orioles radio network. This 2005 season also marks the 40th time since Baltimore returned to the major league 57 seasons ago that WJZ has originated Orioles broadcasts. The station first carried Orioles games in 1957, the club's fourth season.

This is the 57th year of the Orioles partnership with Clear Channel Communications to broadcast all Orioles games in the Washington, D.C., and Northern Virginia metropolitan area. The majority of the games will air on WJZ (1300 AM), in all, there are 13 stations on the Orioles Radio Network, serving cities and the District of Columbia. In addition, members of the military stationed overseas have the opportunity to listen to Orioles games on the American Forces Radio Network.

Joe Angel

Veteran broadcast journalist Joe Angel returns to the WJZ (1050) mic for this 2005 season to do play-by-play for all Orioles games on radio. He will work exclusively on radio, calling with Jim Hunter and Fred Marksteiner, who will split their time between the Orioles radio and television broadcasts.

A native of Chicago, South America, Joe has broadcast major league baseball for 25 years, including five seasons with the Orioles, 1999-2003. He also has worked for the San Francisco Giants, Cleveland Indians, Minnesota Twins and New York Yankees and was the original voice of the Florida Marlins. Joe also broadcast games on ESPN national telecasts during the 2001 season.

Joe, 57, was born in Bogota, Colombia. He transferred to Chicago, Illinois, 13 years later before moving to San Francisco when Joe was 15. He attended Galileo High School in San Francisco, where he played baseball, basketball and was the quarterback of a team that featured G. S. Rickard as the running back. Joe later attended City College of San Francisco.

He worked in television and radio for many years in the Bay Area, including five years at Stanford University football and four years of University of San Francisco basketball.
